We understand how important icons are for a user experience, and therefore have put a lot of effort in creating a set of gorgeous icons that are easy on the eye, look great in both dark and light versions, and are easy to use. The icons are clearly marked with a class that will always help you figure out how to use the icons: • Application icons (color.png and shape.png) • Folders icons (folder.png) • Network/Internet (wifi.png) • Text (info.png) • Contact (phone.png and mail.png) All of the icons are 512x512 in size, which makes the pack very small and easy to download. You will get the folder icons (folder.png) that will look perfect in dark and light versions, no matter which version you are using. We have included the dark and light versions for each folder icon, which makes your apps and folders easily visible no matter the background. We hope you enjoy this pack and find it very useful. Why not turn your Galaxy S4 into a DJ? It's fairly easy to do it with the help of the android application Bump Music, and you'll be able to control your music with your Android device. This app will allow you to play your favorite songs from the folders, your folders will be renamed accordingly and the music you play will be displayed in your device's screen. Let's take a closer look at how it works. 1. The first step is to download the free android app Bump Music on your Android device. 2. Download the song from your folders or an online playlist you can add to the app (you can also choose the album as a source) and select the type of music you want to play from the options you'll see on the screen. 3. You can now select the song you've played and the application will automatically launch the music control panel. It's that simple. You can play, pause, skip, repeat, and increase the volume of the selected song. As you can see, the app allows you to change the volume of the selected song without even touching the screen. 4. If you want you can change the music's track as well as the list of music you've played. You can add the songs to your playlist or change the type of music
